St Andrew's School for Girls

St Andrew's is an independent Christian girl's school in South Africa, established in 1902. Our Christian identity and Anglican affiliation encompasses a broad range of faith expressions, celebrates diversity, and encourages dialogue in community. There are three schools on our beautiful campus, namely our Preschool (co-educational from three months to five years of age); Junior School (girls from Grade 0 to Grade 7); and Senior School (girls from Grade 8 to Grade 12). We also run a community engagement programme called uBambiswano (co-educational from Grades 5 to 9), which takes place on Saturdays on our campus.
